

When Shira was diagnosed with triple-negative breast cancer at 41, just months after welcoming her son, it felt like the moment she had been bracing for since learning she carried the BRCA mutation nearly 20 years earlier. After multiple surgeries and chemotherapy, she is now cancer-free and deeply grateful for the support from Sharsheret that carried her through.

In recognition of Triple-Negative Breast Cancer Day on March 3, read Shira's powerful story of resilience, intuition, and strength.
